Esport Specialist, NetEase Games

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the Esport Specialist role at NetEase Games. I have spent 15 years in esports, live events and broadcast, most recently as Head of Esports Operations at BLAST, and I am based in Surrey. The hands-on side of tournament operations, planning and running events online and offline, is the work I enjoy most.

At BLAST I ran tournament operations for the shooting titles CS2 and CS:GO, alongside Dota 2, Rocket League, Fortnite and Apex Legends. Over six years that covered 60+ flagship events and 300+ qualifiers in 13 countries. I was the main tournament-level contact for FACEIT, ESIC and BLAST Premier teams, and I brought online and offline player management into one team so players had a single point of support.

I also costed and pitched new tournament work with the product and commercial teams, booked and managed freelancers and vendors, and built the operations tools my team used for bookings, calendars, equipment and budgets.

I know this role sits below my last title, and I would be glad to talk about why it appeals. I would welcome the chance to discuss how my experience could help NetEase Games.

Yours faithfully,

Tim Everard
