Event Director, Handle Recruitment (client unnamed)

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the Event Director role. I have run large live events and the teams behind them for 15 years, and I would like to bring that to a business where events are the core of the work.

Until October I was Head of Esports Operations at BLAST, leading a six-person department. Across six years we delivered 60+ flagship events and 300+ qualifiers in 13 countries, booking and contracting 2,000+ freelancers against €12m+ in budgets. I rebuilt how the team worked, with clear ownership and proper documentation, and built our own tools for bookings, equipment and budgets.

On the commercial side, I costed and pitched new work with the product and commercial teams, and wrote the business case for a departmental budget. Before BLAST I managed production at ESL UK, including studios and external events such as MCM, EGX and Formula E, and managed a TV studio build at Jam Television. I am comfortable across AV and production workflows, venues and suppliers.

My events have been esports and broadcast rather than agency work for corporate clients, and I have not used Salesforce, so I would be learning those. I would welcome the chance to talk about how my experience fits.

Yours faithfully,

Tim Everard
