National Tournaments Manager, The Professional Golfers' Association (The PGA)

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the National Tournaments Manager role at The PGA. Fifteen years of running live tournaments and events, most recently leading tournament operations at BLAST, have given me a close understanding of what it takes to deliver national-level competition on time, on budget and safely for everyone on site.

At BLAST I led a six-person department delivering 60+ flagship events and 300+ qualifiers across 13 countries, with €12m+ in budgets and 2,000+ freelancers booked, contracted and scheduled for each event. As Tournament Operations Manager I arranged venues and equipment for team bootcamps, managed tournament staffing and equipment budgets, and was the main tournament-level contact for governing and regulatory bodies including FACEIT and ESIC. I also served as Designated Safeguarding Lead and first aider at live events, so health, safety and compliance were part of every event I ran.

I should be upfront that I have not sat the PGA or R&A Rules of Golf exams, and my tournament background is in esports rather than golf. What I would bring is a tested record of planning tournaments, managing field-based teams and freelancers, controlling budgets and prize-fund-style expenditure, and keeping events compliant and safe, built across six years of national and international live events.

I would welcome the chance to discuss how this experience could transfer to The PGA's National Tournaments team.

Yours faithfully,
Tim Everard
